Film and Food Fest

The Film and Food Fest was the culmination of “Food from Our Place”. This project was born out of a SET-BC Synergy grant and was a collaborative partnership between Tanya Phillips (Teacher Librarian), Robin Ruff (Food Economics Teacher), with support from our Aboriginal Support Teacher (Lindsay Lockhart) and our Media Design Teacher (Jay Larson). We had four Senior Food Studies classes work through this inquiry (2 each semester). This was a blended model where the students cooked one week and worked on their inquiry project the alternating week for the entire semester. Students explored food topics, reached out to community farms, interviewed, collected footage, researched, and created a film to tell their story.

To learn more about the project and view students' films, check out our blog:
